

More than 400 doctoral candidates, postdocs, and interested students came to Rosensäle on 24 January to visit the Graduate Academy's PhD Day. The 12 Lectures at PhD Day provided general and in-detail information about career perspectives within and outside academia, chances and pitfalls of the doctorate, the general academic regulations for dissertations, and financial and family topics around the doctoral phase.

On the evening of this year's PhD Day, more than 80 spectators followed passionately the second "3 Minute Thesis" Competition of FSU Jena. The jury as well as the audience selected Marina Pekmezovic of Hans Knöll Institute with her presentation called "Small talk during fungal infection" as winner of the jury and the audience prize.

For some impressions of PhD Day, click here. For the videos and a little image gallery of the 3MT finals, click here.

Meldung vom: 13.02.2018 10:47

vorherige | nächste