

Julia McMillan

Submitting Articles to American Journals

07 May 2014, 9.00–17.00 h

Auditorium, „Zur Rosen“, Johannisstraße 13

This workshop is designed for doctoral candidates and young professionals who want to submit articles to American journals in the US. The workshop will cover the paper submission process and the associated documentation, and will incorporate how American norms, cultural expectations, and etiquette affect communication and correspondence. It will also offer concrete information on differences in grammar, punctuation, spelling, and grammar between American and British English.